SNOW WHITE'S COTTAGE SNOWGLOBE

Once again, the incredible artistry of Ian Fraser is revealed in this beautifully hand-painted, cast resin "snow globe" sculpture. The intricate base recreates the jewel mine where we find each of the dwarfs hard at work. Mining carts, wheel barrows and buckets sparkle with colorful glitter representing the precious gems they've just unearthed. Each turn of the globe reveals the most wonderful detail, from miniature tracks to a cascading waterfall. Iridescent glitter sparkles inside the glass sphere where Snow White happily sweeps the front porch of the Seven Dwarfs' Cottage. Plays the happy tune "Heigh Ho." 4½" wide x 4½" high x 6¼" diam. Imported. Catalog Exclusive. Order now for September delivery. #15257TT $95

A FAIRY TALE COLLECTION, BROUGHT TO LIFE IN PEWTER AND AUSTRIAN CRYSTALS

Walt Disney's first animated feature is honored with this unique collection that recreates the sparkling personalities of Snow White and each of the Seven Dwarfs. Standing approximately 2 1/4" tall, each figurine is a highly detailed work of art, beautifully created in antiqued pewter. Snow White's kind and gentle nature is delicately portrayed as she sits with a little blue bird perched upon her finger. The Seven Dwarfs' "animated" poses capture each with a tool - such as a pick, a lantern, a shovel or a brush - as if they're at work in the jewel mine. Adding a splash of color are inlaid Austrian crystals, simulating a range of gems from topaz to amethyst to emeralds to diamonds. USA. Catalog Exclusive.

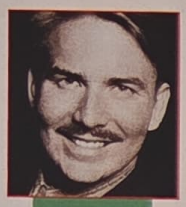
Heirloom Ornaments by

CHRISTOPHER RADKO

INTRODUCING 1997 EDITIONS



There's no mistaking a glass ornament designed by artist Christopher Radko. The warm luster, the fine detail and vintage appearance transport us to an earlier, less hurried time when such treasures were made by hand and craftsmen took great pride in their work. Indeed, these one-of-a-kind ornaments all are handmade in Poland, where master glassworkers — using near-forgotten, 19th-century methods — require a full week to produce each ornament. Mouth blown, silvered and hand-painted, each design is a tribute to Disney's timeless characters. No doubt they will become a cherished part of your family's holiday celebrations for generations to come.
